

Is there Enough Evidence?

James 2:14-26

If you were arrested for being a Christian, would there be enough evidence to convict you? Could a worn and well-used Bible be brought forth? Could a family member testify about all the times you had family prayer together and Bible instruction? Could witnesses be summoned who could testify that you spoke to them about your Saviour? Did anyone ever see you at a restaurant bowing your head and giving thanks for the food? Are their neighbors who could be brought to the courtroom and speak of you as one who was always kind and helpful and concerned? Are there those who could tell the judge and jury that they had received a gospel tract from your hand? Would there be co-workers who thought it strange that you would not use certain language and would not laugh at certain jokes? Are there members of a Bible-believing and Bible-teaching congregation who could testify of your faithful attendance, your enthusiasm in singing and worship, your willingness to help in any way, your generosity in supporting the work, and your love towards other believers who were in need? Would there be those who could testify of your contentment and rejoicing spirit even in the midst of severe personal trials and difficulties?

“For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them” (Eph. 2:10). “This is a faithful saying, and these things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God might be careful to maintain good works” (Tit. 3:8). “They profess that they know God; but in works they deny Him, being abominable, and disobedient and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit. 1:16). May we “adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things” and “be not unfruitful” (Tit. 2:10; 3:14).

~George Zeller: www.middletonbiblechurch.org

Is there Enough Evidence?

James 2:14-26

If you were arrested for being a Christian, would there be enough evidence to convict you? Could a worn and well-used Bible be brought forth? Could a family member testify about all the times you had family prayer together and Bible instruction? Could witnesses be summoned who could testify that you spoke to them about your Saviour? Did anyone ever see you at a restaurant bowing your head and giving thanks for the food? Are their neighbors who could be brought to the courtroom and speak of you as one who was always kind and helpful and concerned? Are there those who could tell the judge and jury that they had received a gospel tract from your hand? Would there be co-workers who thought it strange that you would not use certain language and would not laugh at certain jokes? Are there members of a Bible-believing and Bible-teaching congregation who could testify of your faithful attendance, your enthusiasm in singing and worship, your willingness to help in any way, your generosity in supporting the work, and your love towards other believers who were in need? Would there be those who could testify of your contentment and rejoicing spirit even in the midst of severe personal trials and difficulties?

“For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them” (Eph. 2:10). “This is a faithful saying, and these things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God might be careful to maintain good works” (Tit. 3:8). “They profess that they know God; but in works they deny Him, being abominable, and disobedient and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit. 1:16). May we “adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things” and “be not unfruitful” (Tit. 2:10; 3:14).

~George Zeller: www.middletonbiblechurch.org

